PRESIDENT

The achievements of the Winston-Salem Junior League during 1943-1944 are recorded in the reports of the chairmen of standing committees. To these chairmen, I cannot give too much praise for their diligence, enthusiasm, and resourcefulness. In a year that has been continuously beset by war-time strains, when plans have been completed only to be subsequently revised or entirely altered, these members of our League have set a high record for leadership and a sense of individual responsibility.

It falls to the lot of your president to give you an over-all picture of the goals for which we have strived, the major problems, and an evaluation of the League in the community, together with such other matters as are not covered in any other report.

From the A. J. L. A. staff we have had two visitors. Miss Virginia Lee Comer came in May for a survey of the community's cultural needs and resources and to conduct a Children's Theatre Institute. Mrs. Helene Lipscomb came in September to help with the general League planning and more specifically the programs of League and Community education.

Mrs. John Whitaker and I represented you at the A. J. L. A. Conference in May 1943 in New York. Besides attending all conference sessions, we had special appointments with Mrs. Lipscomb, Miss Comer and Mrs. Robert Dingman.

Attendance at League meetings this year has been a prime problem to your Board. The number of members who attended monthly meetings has fluctuated between a high of 79 in November to a low of 34 in February. Three monthly meetings were held in the evening, the rest in the morning. Refreshments were served at four meetings. Whether or not these social interludes were any inducement to attend is an open question.

I think no one but the president can fully realize the influence and prestige the Junior League holds in this city, for to her are directed the flood of calls for participation in all group drives and enterprises. Perhaps the most vital cooperation with community efforts has been through our representatives on the four divisions of the Community Council. Three League members have officially represented the League on each division. Let me make it plain at this point that I do not attempt here to enumerate the variety of community service and war-time demands which League members are answering as individual citizens or as part of their League volunteer service. The instances specified are in response to requests for official representation from the Junior League.

League members have represented you on the following planning groups: Piedmont Festival of Music and Art, the Cancer Control Drive, the War Fund Drive of the American Red Cross, and at a meeting called by the president of the Chamber of Commerce to formulate plans for a Post-War Planning Civic Committee. At least one League member has served on the following boards or committees: The Women's Division of the United Campaigns Committee, the Children's Theatre Board, the Community Chest Budget Committee, the Executive Committee of the Community Council Radio Committee, the civilian committees for recruitment of WACS and WAVES, and on the committee appointed by Roy Brookbank, Chairman of the United War Chest, to recommend a successor to Tom Carroll, executive secretary of the United War Chest, when he resigned in January.

If we recognize here with pride that through the years the Junior League has built for itself a reputation for earnest, thoughtful, and intelligent interest, the sober reflection comes, too, that such a reputation demands a double responsibility to maintain.

As for our League program proper, one of the first decisions your Executive Board made was to increase the emphasis on the educational program of the League, both at monthly meetings and in the provisional course.

Then we faced the problem whether or not the work of the Arts Committee should be continued. In the report of the Arts Chairman for 1943-44 the words, "The League's interest was negligible" gave reason enough for pause. After an evaluation of the need in Winston-Salem, the relative apathy within the League and out, and the debatable promise of success of any arts program at this time, we agreed that the appointment of an Arts Committee could be justified only by broadening the program and intensifying the efforts especially in work with children. This, we knew, could only be effected by an enlarged and very capable committee under a strong chairman. The results as incorporated in the Arts Committee's report have happily justified our decision.

Likewise, whether to pursue the local interest in radio generated by Miss Gloria Chandler's Institute in November 1942 by the appointment of a League Radio Committee was another moot question. Your Executive Committee reasoned that here the League had in a measure "set its hand to the plow" and we could not deny the civic interest we had fostered. We were most fortunate in having Elizabeth Trotman, a League member, back home from the University of North Carolina where she had taken courses in script-writing and radio production. The record of this year's Radio Committee is told in her report, a story of which we may all be proud. But, may I add with all the force I can summon, our responsibility does not end with the termination of Miss Charlotte Demorest's contract with the Community Council. We have allocated from Junior League funds $4,500.00 to this program. To insure this investment with our active and strenuous interest and efforts is our continuing obligation.

Another continuing responsibility also faces our League: from 1937 through 1942 we were committed to a project, the Child Guidance Clinic. We were the pioneers, beyond question, in this city and state, in this field. When the Clinic closed, the demonstration of the need had been conclusively proved. The service is now non-existent, but the necessity for helping the emotionally maladjusted child remains a live issue, discussed more at present by educators, doctors, and social case workers than by Junior League members. From the report of Mrs. Rosemary Kent, Health Consultant to the City Schools, I want to quote:

" . . . tabulations on all the schools except Reynolds showed that teachers are dealing with 210 children whom they believe to be mentally retarded and an additional 30 whom they suspect are actually feeble-minded. Of course, these reports are, for the most part, subjective evidence, but teacher experience is not to be discredited . . . From the same schools were reported 833 behavior problems, or indications of emotional ill health . . . The implication of the survey is two-fold: that the problems are more extensive than was anticipated and that assistance in coping with them would be valuable."

Evidence is everywhere that others are now carrying the torch that we first alone bore. To my mind that is all the more reason why we should join all crusading groups to see that psychiatric service, or at least psychological assistance, be provided—and soon. This is in no wise to suggest that the League ever reopen the Clinic; neither is it to affirm nor deny the possible wisdom at some time in the near or distant future of contributing financially toward an adequate service. But our active interest in this community gap should be expressed repeatedly and often.

New needs forever arise in the thoughtful study of our community, and young leadership providentially arises to serve as protagonists in new fields. The League purposes, though expanding, should remain constant, steady, persevering lest we seem like the knight of old who mounted his horse and rode off in all directions.

(MRS. IRVING CARLYLE)

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY

During the year April 1, 1943 through March 1944, a total of 80 personal letters were written by the corresponding secretary. This total includes 20 letters pertaining to membership status of members of the Winston-Salem League, five letters to the National Junior League office or officers, 32 letters concerning local Junior League business not pertaining to membership, 18 letters to provisionals, and seven miscellaneous letters. In addition to these personal letters, 42 mimeographed letters were personally addressed to members regarding their Thrift Shop quota, and mimeographed ballot on the closing of the Beauty Parlor was sent to each League member.

The correspondence concerned the granting of four non-resident memberships, transfers of Mrs. James Mann to Philadelphia and cancellation of transfer when she returned to Winston-Salem, transfers of Mrs. William Berger to Baltimore, granting of inter-league memberships to Mrs. John Graham for the Washington League, and to Mrs. Robert Gorrell for the Montreal League. Mrs. Jess Reid was granted non-resident membership when she transferred from the Atlanta League back to Winston-Salem, and Elizabeth Trotman, Elizabeth Magie, and Mrs. John Reece were accepted as active members from non-resident membership. Miss Harriet Taylor resigned as a provisional member of the Winston-Salem League, and Mrs. George Mauze as an active member.

In December, Mrs. Edward M. Holder was elected as corresponding secretary to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Mary Louise Lowe when Mrs. Lowe resigned because of full time employment.

The 1943-44 yearbook was compiled, edited and distributed.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH JEROME HOLDER
(MRS. EDWARD M. HOLDER)

JUNIOR LEAGUE BEAUTY PARLOR, INCORPORATED

For the year ending April 1, 1944, the net profit of the Junior League Beauty Parlor was $2,963.44. The year's pledge of $1,400 was paid to the Junior League. In addition, a $1,000 War Bond was bought in the name of the Junior League Beauty Parlor to be used for new equipment when it is released by the government. Expenses for further training in New York were paid for one operator. To meet the rising cost of supplies, it was necessary to raise the service charges.

When every means of securing operators and a permanent manager was unsuccessful, these facts were presented at the June meeting. A letter was sent to each member on July 4th with mailing ballots and arguments for and against maintaining the Beauty Parlor. The decision was 40 to 37 in favor of keeping the shop. During this period of indecision, our operators secured three new operators for us and were most helpful in many ways at this trying time.

The shop was redecorated throughout in the color scheme of gray and yellow.

We have four excellent operators; and in March we were quite fortunate in securing Mrs. Lelia W. Weavil as our manager. In a letter from Helen Curtis, we were honored by her statement that our shop is considered one of the best in the South.

Through your cooperation we shall continue to maintain our high standard of service.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE

Last April, because of many obstacles caused by the war, the Junior League, for the first time in fifteen years, was unable to produce the annual play.

The Gray High School Dramateers were called upon to "take over" for us in fulfilling our obligation to the Children's Theatre Board. They gave the production "Rackety Packety House." Under the direction of Mrs. Charles H. Babcock, members of the Play Group made the scenery and furnished the properties for this production.

The first week in June, Miss Virginia Lee Comer, head of Cultural Programs of the Community Service Department of the A. J. L. A., held an Institute for the Arts Committee and the Children's Theatre. After Miss Comer's visit, we were again fired with enthusiasm for the Children's Theatre and felt that "the play must go on" in spite of Adolph Hitler and Hirohito!

So down to work we got, making plans for the year's work. The first step was to appoint a new Committee, composed of six girls, to discuss and plan the year's work in an advisory capacity. The members of this committee were Mrs. Charles H. Babcock, Mrs. R. A. Spaugh, Jr., Mrs. George Lee Irvin, Miss Diana Dyer, Miss Elizabeth Trotman and Mrs. DeKalb Wylie.

The second step was to do away with the old title "Play Group" and to be recognized as the Children's Theatre. No longer do we, or can we, function as a small group.

Our aim is for each member in the League to have an interest in, and the responsibility of, making the Children's Theatre as successful in the community as our other various League affiliations.

The Advisory Committee had five meetings during the year. At the first meeting in September, two plays, "Titian" and "Little Black Sambo," were read and chosen to be submitted to the reading Committee of the Children's Theatre Board. The October meeting was a joint meeting with the Arts Committee and Mrs. Helene Lipscomb, from A. J. L. A., to discuss the complete program for the year and to determine how the two Committees could work in close relationship.

On November 4th a meeting was held to plan for the best presentation to interest the Children's Theatre and its part in the community picture to the provisionals. At the provisional meeting on November 10th, Mrs. George Lee Irvin gave the history of the Children's Theatre in the League. Mrs. Charles H. Babcock discussed the technical side of a production and Mrs. W. DeKalb Wylie gave the history of the Winston-Salem Children's Theatre Board.

In December the first try-out was held for the play "Titian" which had been selected in the early fall by the Children's Theatre Board as our spring play.

The last meeting of the Advisory Committee was held in January to complete the plans for the production of "Titian". The last week in April was set for the three performances.

Work was begun on the scenery in February, with Mrs. Charles H. Babcock, chairman of scenery, Mrs. James DeHart and Mrs. Thomas Ruffin doing the construction. Twenty-six girls helped with the painting and other details.

Costumes were bought from the Miami Junior League for $25.00. There had to be some changes and a few additions made.

The cast started rehearsals the last of February.

Up until the first of April there were forty-five active and three sustaining members who assisted with the play. The play was presented in three performances the end on April.

CULTURAL ARTS

The Cultural Arts program for the year 1943-44 was based on the following: (1) A study of the survey of cultural facilities and needs in Winston-Salem made by Miss Virginia Lee Comer, consultant on arts for A. J. L. A. Community Service Staff, on a field trip to the city near the beginning of the League year; (2) Need in the community; and (3) Girl power available in the League.

The program included: (1) Cooperation with the Piedmont Festival of Music and Art which brought professional leadership for local talent. League members served on the Festival executive committees, aided in ticket selling, voted $300 out of surplus funds for the support of the Festival, and had an article on the Festival published in the Junior League Magazine. (2) Furnishing volunteers to the city recreation department to help them establish their after-school centers for children, and to assist them in developing their leisure time creative programs for children. Sixteen League members registered for the Arts and Crafts training course held in October, and five members served as instructors in the arts and crafts activities at the recreation centers. (3) Building up a story-telling program for children of the community. Fourteen League members registered for the story telling course conducted by Miss Mary Gould Davis of the New York Public Library, and five members held regular story hours at recreation centers. (4) A committee was appointed to work with a school committee in helping develop an audio-visual aid program in the public schools. League volunteers operated moving picture machines in schools in connection with class-room work. (5) Posters were made by eleven League members depicting plays produced through the Children's Theatre. These posters were placed in city schools before the performances. (6) Three girls operated a book cart for patients at Baptist Hospital.

The financial report of the Arts Committee is as follows: Of the $100 allotted the committee in the budget:

$10.01 Postage and letters for Piedmont Festival.

$10.00 Baptist Hospital book cart for new books.

$ 7.35 Palette Art Co. for colored reprints of Titian's paintings.

$ 1.24 Poster boards.

$71.40 Carnegie Public Library for children's story books recommended by Miss Mary Gould Davis.

The League made a valuable contribution to the community during the past year in filling a few of the needs in the cultural field. A beginning has been made toward the cultural development of the children of Winston-Salem. By the awareness and interest on the part of many of our citizens concerning these needs and with the continued co-operation and interest on the part of many of our League members, we hope that the program can be expanded next year, and that we may look ahead to many thrilling developments in the cultural field in the future.

Respectfully submitted,

ROSALIE H. MOORE

(Mrs. Thomas Moore)

EDUCATION

Throughout the past year the Education Committee has tried to contribute to the "continued education" of League members by presenting a broad and varied program.

The November meeting was devoted to a review of last year's donations. A skit describing the work of the Child Service Division of the Family and Child Service Agency was presented, after which the president and the librarian of the Winston-Salem Teachers College told of the books they had purchased with the League's donation.

At the January meeting, a panel discussion on the problem of Juvenile Delinquency was held under the leadership of Tom Carroll, executive secretary of the Community Council. Others participating were: Miss Annie Laurie Lowrance, principal of Fairview School; Miss Carrie Lee Weaver, Girl Reserve Secretary of the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Melville Prongay, executive director of the C. D. V. O.; Miss Mabel Pitzer and James Unthank, probation officers with the local juvenile court; and Lloyd Hathaway, head of the City Recreation Department.

Because of its importance during wartime, the subject of Inflation was discussed at the February meeting in a panel headed by Miss Mary Garber. Other League members taking part were: Mrs. Stratton Coyner, Miss Eleanor Sue Cox, Mrs. Justus Randolph, Mrs. Edward M. Holder.

Instead of conducting a current events club, the committee decided to cooperate with Salem College in its lecture series and was instrumental in securing Vera Dean, research director of the Foreign Policy Association, as one of the speakers. With the help of the Placement Chairman, more than 100 season tickets were sold to League members.

In order to make the service rendered by volunteers in story-telling more efficient, the committee sponsored a course taught by Miss Mary Gould Davis, supervisor of story-telling in the New York Public Library. Nearly 200 persons, both white and Negro, took part. The group represented volunteer story-tellers of the City Recreation department, Sunday Schools, day nurseries, public schools, and students of Salem College and the Winston-Salem

Teachers College.

The Provisional course was broadened in scope this year under the chairmanship of Miss Mary Garber in order to give prospective members a more comprehensive picture of League activities and the community at large.

The following is an outline of the course: Meeting with the Board of Directors of the Junior League followed by a tea; panel discussion on League finances with the treasurer, Mrs. Willoughby Brown, Thrift Shop chairman, Mrs. Ben Trotter, Beauty Parlor Chairman, Mrs. Fielding Combs; panel discussion on Education, Mrs. Conrad Lemly, news-sheet chairman, Mrs. George Walker, magazine chairman, Mrs. John Whitaker, education chairman; panel discussion on Arts and Children's Theatre, Mrs. Justus Randolph, Mrs. Thomas Moore, Mrs. W. DeKalb Wylie, Mrs. Charles H. Babcock, Mrs. George Lee Irvin; League History by Mrs. Irving Carlyle; War Services by Mrs. Richard Spicer.

The second part of the course dealing with the community was led by Tom Carroll, executive secretary of the United War Chest and Community Council, and Miss Caroline Wagner, secretary of the Community Council. This was in a series of six meetings as follows: (1) Community picture, lecture by Tom Carroll; (2) Panel discussion of Family Welfare—A. W. Cline, County Welfare Department; Mrs. Noble McEwen, Family and Child Service Agency; Miss Elizabeth Sartin, Home Service Department, American Red Cross; (3) Leisure Time Agencies—T. F. Poag, director of Negro Recreation Center, Mrs. Mary Bacote, general secretary, Chestnut Street Branch Y. W. C. A.; L. B. Hathaway, director City Recreation Department; Cultural Activities—Mrs. Edward M. Holder, Piedmont Festival; Paul Newman, Little Theatre; Rev. Douglas Rights, Wachovia Historical Museum; (4) Child Welfare—James Unthank, Negro Probation Officer; Miss Ruth Gilpin, Secretary Child Service division, Family and Child Service Agency; Miss Ruth Johnston, Child Welfare Division, County Welfare Department; Mrs. Gladys Burkett, supervisor Community Day Care program; O. V. Woosley, superintendent of Children's Home; (5) Health—Dr. G. F. Reeves, City Hospital; Miss Bess Dalton, County Health Department; Mrs. C. O. DeLaney, Forsyth County Tuberculosis Association; Mrs. Rosemary Kent, school health consultant; (6) City and County Government, and Education—Ralph Stockton, city government; James G. Hanes, county government; Mrs. Lacy Butler, city schools.

Instead of a written examination, each Provisional wrote a paper on some phase of community life. More than 50 per cent of the girls chose their own subjects. Others picked their topics from a list suggested by the committee.

As a contribution to community education, the committee sponsored the attendance of one girl to the annual session of "Girl's State" which was held in June in Greensboro and which promotes growth in citizenship among high school students.

HOSPITALITY

The June meeting of the Junior League was in the form of a picnic at the home of Mrs. W. A. Armfield. Drinks were given by the League.

In November a tea was given for the provisionals at the home of Mrs. John Whitaker.

Refreshments were served at four regular meetings. The total cost of entertainment for the year 1943-44 was $83.16.

The Magazine for the year 1943-44 has remained in its present war-time format. Mrs. James Dawson continues as its editor.

There have been several articles in the Magazine about our League's activities and members: "A. J. L. A. President Visits the WACs" by Mrs. Linville K. Martin; "How to Win Friends for the Community" by Charlotte Demorest; "The Opening of a Door" by Mrs. Edward M. Holder, which was accompanied by pictures; and "O Tempora, O Peonies" by Eleanor Sue Cox.

The Tidings column has carried the announcements of engagements, weddings and births. The Magazines and all correspondence have been filed and will be turned over to the new chairman.

NEWS-SHEET

The News-sheet for 1943-44 was published in newspaper format adopted the preceding year. There were nine issues, including a mid-summer edition. All issues have been bound for filing purposes.

The May 1943 issue carried a cartoon by Mrs. Edward M. Holder depicting the League's change-over from money-raising interests to emphasis on education. In the same issue, Mrs. Irving Carlyle's "Presidential Message" sounded the keynote of League activities for the coming year, the integration of Junior League volunteer service with that of all other organizations working with community and wartime agencies. The general policy of the editorial staff has been to report in the News-sheet just how closely the League has followed through on its year's plans.

In reporting on the developments in League and community education, there have been articles covering inflation, the leisure-time and recreational survey of the community made by Miss Virginia Lee Comer of the A. J. L. A. staff, various institutes such as the Arts and Crafts, Story-Telling, and Plays, and activities of the Community Council divisions on which the League was represented.

The progress of the two organizations to which we contributed financially in 1943, the Child Service division of the Family and Child Service Agency and the Radio

Council, has been closely followed.

Each issue of the News-sheet has carried committee reports, current news on legislative questions, the League shops, and outstanding volunteer jobs.

Editorially speaking, the staff has run the gamut of discussion from such serious topics as "We Make the Peace," urging understanding of home front problems, and "New World A-Coming," calling for adjustment to social change, to good-natured prodding about delinquent dues and attendance.

I want to commend my entire staff of associates. Their enthusiasm and cooperation has made my job as editor a pleasure and a real education. My sincere thanks go to them all.

From the above statistical report, you can see that a majority of our members have been busy. However, the report presents a picture that is a little too bright. For a group of girls are doing not two, but sometimes three or four full placement jobs—thus appearing on the report's figures several times. Four of our members have never submitted themselves for a placement interview. A few members, having small children and no domestic help, have not been able to take a full-time assignment. They have done the "homework" for the League—such as telephoning, typing, etc. There are a few who would do only emergency jobs.

Further analysis shows the outstanding weakness in our placement program to be our participation in the welfare field. Our six volunteer's work at the Family Service Agency has been praised unstintingly by the Director of the Agency. It is to be hoped that more of our members will be wanted and can be placed in other welfare agencies in the city in the coming year.

We are experiencing a time when no person in our nation can call her time her own. Rightly so, our War Agencies must have our support and leadership. But to maintain our volunteer standards in our community, we cannot forget them nor lay them by for the duration. There is a crying need from every type of Group Work Agency, the schools, the Juvenile Probation case workers and Welfare Agency workers for leadership of the 'teen-age group. Group work agencies and the Recreation Department are under-staffed and are not able to do the work without volunteer workers. We can make a magnificent contribution to Winston-Salem by furnishing more leaders for the Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, the Y. W. C. A. groups, and the Recreation Department. This year, 19 League girls acting as Craft Instructors, Story-Tellers, Scout Leaders, Y. W. C. A. group leaders, have given immeasurable help. The demand is for more, a great many more, leaders. Will we furnish our proportionate share in this field to our Community?

PUBLIC RELATIONS

Activities of the Junior League were reported in both papers this year. All meetings were covered in full and, in addition, a number of special articles were written.

There was a report of the A. J. L. A. Board meeting and an interview with Nancy Martin after she returned to the city. The Winston-Salem Junior League-sponsored story-telling course was publicized before it happened and covered after it began. The Twin-City Sentinel carried a front-page interview with Miss Mary Gould Davis, who conducted the course.

The visit of Mrs. W. Kenyon Drake, regional director, was reported in a story, picture, and interviews. The provisional course was outlined.

We hope that next year some time and thought will be given to the possibility of more feature stories on what the local League is doing as a part of its community service.

RADIO

Late in 1942 Gloria Chandler gave her Radio Institute in Winston-Salem. Out of the Institute came a radio committee for the first time as part of the Winston-Salem Junior League organization. A radio council was formed in Winston-Salem, bringing to light that there was interest in using radio for civic enterprise. It came to the attention of the radio committee that Winston-Salem needed first of all to become educated to radio and its many aspects of community service, and the committee further decided that the Junior League would be making a great contribution to civic enterprise by sponsoring a professional radio consultant.

Before this recommendation was submitted to the League, a survey was made by the members of the committee to find out if the community organizations of Winston-Salem were interested in learning and using radio through a professional radio consultant as a means of educating the public to their specific services. Organizations such as the Community Council, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Scouts, Public Health and Recreation departments were contacted, and in every instance we met great enthusiasm, and promises of cooperation. The report of this survey was made at the June meeting last year, and Miss Josephine Nigli, playwright and instructor of radio at Chapel Hill, was recommended as consultant, but later proved unable to accept. The radio committee asked that the Junior League sponsor a program of radio education in Winston-Salem by the employment of a consultant, and it was voted to appropriate two thousand dollars ($2,000) to this community project—the vote was 70-3.

We contacted Gloria Chandler to find the right radio consultant for us and she secured Charlotte Demorest whose successful work has already spoken for her excellent qualifications.

After discussing plans with Tom Carroll, then the executive secretary of the Community Council, it seemed wisest for full organization co-operation, to place the new radio plan under the direction of the Community Council, and in October the two thousand dollars ($2,000) was given to the Council.

Charlotte Demorest came to Winston-Salem the first of November and began extensive plans for sound organization. By the end of December 1943, the radio plan had become so highly organized and was operating with such success that it seemed impossible to "reap the richest rewards" from Charlotte Demorest's guidance and planned work without an extension of time beyond nine months as was originally planned; and so at a special meeting in January, Miss Demorest made a full report on the organization and work planned for the future of the Community Radio Plan. In her report she called attention to the national publicity which the radio experiment was creating. After the report, the radio committee of the Junior League submitted to the League the request for twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500) in additional funds to continue the planned radio program through December the thirty-first, 1944. The vote accepting the request was unanimous.

The work has gone forward and has proved successful in every respect. Our greatest triumph to date is, of course, the coast-to-coast NBC broadcast from WSJS of the "Here's to Youth" program. The Radio Plan promoted the NBC series of "Here's to Youth" programs from the initial broadcast and it was through this promotion that Winston-Salem was chosen as one of five cities from which to originate the special follow up series.

Active and sustaining League members who have taken active parts in the Community Radio Plan are: Mrs. Agnew H. Bahnson, Jr., Mrs. Heartt Bryant, Mrs. Irving Carlyle, Miss Diana Dyer, Miss Elizabeth Dyer, Mrs. Edward M. Holder, and Mrs. Bruce Williams.

The work of the radio plan has had far-reaching influence throughout the community. Between forty and fifty community organizations have given the support to different phases of work. A hundred and ten people have taken active parts as members of committees. There were two hundred and eighty-nine applications for membership to the radio workshop, and ninety-six of the two hundred and eighty-nine are now fully qualified members of the workshop.

In closing the annual report of the radio committee, I should like to say that without the guiding influence of Mrs. Irving Carlyle the entire radio plan would have been impossible.

ELIZABETH TROTMAN

THRIFT SHOP

The annual report for the Thrift Shop from April 1, 1943 to April 1, 1944 covers several important phases. First: the entire renovation and remodeling of the shop, which stimulated the interest of the Junior League members, the volunteer workers, the customers, and the community at large. We were able to secure at no extra cost the use of an adjoining empty building for storage space.

In spite of the increase in operating expenses, the salary, sales tax, etc., the shop realized a total net profit of $2,306.75. This, however, was not gained entirely from the members' quota, for we solicited rummage from Salem Academy and College, purchased stock from local merchants, and made sales of $816.70 on commission basis. Our very efficient manager, Mrs. A. C. Perry, has handled all commissioned stocks and as the above figure shows, has been most successful in this—which we believe, has not only increased our profits but has brought us new and varied customers, as well as improving the general appearance of the stock.

Our publicity in the local papers and also in the Junior League News Sheet has been exceptionally good, and has proved a great help to the shop.

During the provisional training course the chairman met all provisionals at the shop, explaining its complete set-up and operation. Afterwards, the entire committee entertained the provisionals at tea.

The following contributions should prove our worth to the community: Over $40 in clothing to the Greek War Relief Fund, clothing to Salvation Army and Good Will Industries, cooperation with and contributions to the Red Cross, books for the Baptist Hospital Bookmobile, and several individual gifts of clothing to needy people.

The Thrift Shop committee has met regularly and the members have worked unceasingly for the improvement and betterment of the shop. The committee had hoped to hold a fashion show for League members, with various members modeling Thrift Shop merchandise. We have been unable to do this, because of the lack of time at the meetings, but we feel it would be a great help to the members as to what kind of rummage sells best and what we need most.

Our biggest problem during the year has been a lack of volunteer helpers, in most cases because of circumstances beyond their control. Under consideration at this time is the employment of a part time helper for Mrs. Perry, because with the steady increase in sales, the handling of commission stock, and the hope of enlarging the shop at a future date, it will be necessary to the success of the establishment.

Every active member of the League paid her quota in full.

The Thrift Shop Committee is deeply grateful to each member of the League for her interest, cooperation and loyal support, and especially to those volunteer workers who have so faithfully given their time and efforts in serving the shop. To Mrs. Perry we also say "Congratulations for the most successful year the Thrift Shop has ever known."

WAR SERVICE

In the War Stamp drive last Spring, the League assisted in making warsages.

Last May, Lieut. (j.g.) Mary Frances Ivey, Senior WAVES officers for North Carolina, spoke to 20 League members at a tea given by Mrs. R. J. Reynolds, chairman of the civilian WAVE recruiting committee.

We were asked to furnish 50 girls for a dance for a group of officers coming up from Fort Bragg. We did as requested, but the dance was called off since the officers were quarantined with measles.

Several members have helped with the emergency work at the Rationing Board. Four work regularly with the Price Panel on Price checks.

Five sustaining members have worked in the U. S. O. center in the Bus Station throughout the year. We also helped staff the Soldiers Recreation Center.

A Day Room at Fort Bragg was furnished by the League. Chairs, sofas, lamps, victrola, and a pool table were donated by members. Cash donations bought a linoleum rug and smoking stands.

We have helped on all Bond, Red Cross, and War Fund drives which included soliciting and manning booths.

Stamps and Bonds are available for sale at every Junior League meeting.

Our telephone chairman, Miss Jane Taylor, has been untiring and has done a grand job.

This report covers only work done through the League.

WAYS AND MEANS

The Ways and Means Committee's chief task is the making of the yearly budget. In addition to this job the Committee has the responsibility of recommending to the Board changes in financial policy.

At the March meeting each person was given a mimeographed copy of the budget. The Treasurer, with the President, explained each part of this. The members were allowed to ask questions and discuss any part of the budget.

The following recommendations were presented to the Board:

- A
 - 1. The dividing of the administrative and community program fund. An estimated amount of $2,500.00 was drawn from the joint account plus the conference residue of $477.26 and the newsheet residue of $288.08 which gave us a total of $3,265.34.
 - 2. The investing of $2,000.00 of the administrative fund in bonds.
 - 3. Securing of a fiscal agent.
 - 4. Further investigation of the possibilities of a space to be used for Junior League files and records and possibly some meetings.
- B The Thrift Shop increased their budget for 1944-45. This year they were able to give their $500.00 to the budget plus an additional $1,000.00.

- C The Beauty Parlor increased their budget for 1944-45. This year they were able to give their $1,400.00 to the budget, also they invested an additional $1,000.00 in bonds to be used for replacing equipment when it is possible to secure the replacements that will be necessary.
